49 governors back Teodoro's Palace bid

By Michael Lim-Uson

FORTY-NINE PROVINCIAL GOVERNORS yesterday backed the presidential candidacy of Deleane Secretary Gilbert Teodoro, in a move a Palace official described as a "very compelling endorsement" of Teodoro's bid to become the administration's standard bearer in 2010.

The governors took the action at the general assembly of the League of Provinces of the Philippines (LPP) at the Deleane Station in Pasig city, party officials said.

While Governor Ismael Gueo Ben Enson was presiding over the assembly, Sarangani Gov. Miguel Dominguez suddenly stood up and moved to endorse Teodoro as the standard bearer of the administration, condition for next year's elections.

Except for a lone voice, Negros Oriental Gov. Emilio Manalila II, the 49 other governors present accepted the motion, according to party officials. The league had talked with

"It's a breath of fresh air to be endorsed and supported by the governors," Teodoro said in a statement to the Inquirer. "With this endorsement, I feel a tremendous boost. They believe in my candidacy and that means a lot about the confidence."

It was not immediately clear how the governors' action would square with President Macapagal-Arroyo's intention

Last week that she considered Vice President Noli de Castro, another potential presidential aspirant, to have the qualities of a "good president."

That statement was seen in some quarters as a presidential endorsement of De Castro.

Manalila explained he could not go along with the motion to en-

ALL MALACAÑANG COULD tell its deputy national security adviser, Tech "Chavit" Singson, who is under fire for accusing his former love's partner, was to "behave."

"We advise Undersecretary Singson to behave accordingly as an upright citizen and to refrain himself to law process of law," Press Secretary Gregor Remonde told reporters yesterday at a briefing.

The Palace stopped short of commenting Singson, who had been quiet in his job as deputy to National Security Adviser Norberto Gonzalez until some weeks ago. UNKNOWN TO MANY, the Department of Justice has approved the transfer of convict Francisco Juan "Paco" Larrañaga to a penal facility in Spain to serve the remainder of his life sentence for the rape and murder of the Chiong sisters in Cebu in 1997.

Justice Secretary Aguirre Deasondo said it would only be "a matter of time" for Larrañaga, a scion of Cebu's Osmena clan and a winner of Spain by virtue of his father, to be transferred to a Spanish prison under the RP-Spain Transfer of Sentenced Persons Agreement.

Larrañaga, now 32, and six others were convicted of kidnapping, illegal detention, rape and homicide in connection with the abduction, rape and death of the sisters Jacqueline and Marjory Chiong. (See What Happened on Page A10.)

"He will be sent home to be incarcerated there," Deasondo said. The Department of Justice approved the request for Larrañaga's transfer.

"This is just a matter of time," she said, and replied in the affirmative when asked if the case would be in Spain before the year ends.

P3-B ethanol plant in Negros is Southeast Asia's 1st

By Carla P. Gomez

San Carlos City, Negros Occidental

SAN CARLOS CITY, NEGROS OCCIDENTAL—Southeast Asia's first sugarcane-based ethanol and cogeneration plant, which was inaugurated here yesterday, will help wean the Philippines away from dependence on fossil fuels, officials said.

The P3-billion San Carlos Bioenergy

Inc. (SCBI) facility will produce nearly 40 million liters of ethanol annually, representing about 10 percent of the nation's requirements, as mandated by the Bioethanol Act of 2006.

"This is a major milestone in the government's effort to reduce dependency on imported sources of energy and to have energy security coupled with economic equity and environmental sustainability," said Energy Secretary Angelo Reyes, who led government officials at the inauguration ceremony yesterday.

"We should have 20 more replicates of this plant all over the Philippines," he said.

President Macapagal-Arroyo, who was scheduled to inaugurate the plant, could not make it because the "weather did not permit it," Reyes said.

But although Reyes, Mr. Arroyo said that the plant was the realization of her dream to make the Philippines less de-GUANAJAL, CALIFORNIA—Michael Jackson was laid to rest Thursday night in a glowing gold casket adorned with a bejeweled crown, after family and friends added tear to a poignant farewell.

More than two months after he died of a drug overdose, the tragic King of Pop was mourned by celebrities including Elizabeth Taylor, Barry Bonds, and Jackson's on-again, off-again wife Lisa Marie Presley, daughter of Elvis Presley, at a private service outside the elaborate Forest Lawn Glendale mausoleum.

Unpredictable to the last, Jackson was late for his own funeral—his casket cooler set down before mourners nearly two hours after the service had been scheduled to start at 7 p.m. local time.

THE NEWLY opened San Carlos Bioenergy Inc. bioethanol plant in San Carlos City, Negros Occidental, has a production capacity of 40 million liters of ethanol annually.

NBN-ZTE SCANDAL

Charge Mike A, Ombudsman urged

By Ethel C. Yando Jr.

THE OFFICE OF THE OMBUDSMAN has been asked to reconsider its resolution absolving Jose Miguel "Mike" Arroyo, husband of President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo, of any liability in the $129-million, NBN-ZTE deal, saying there was sufficient evidence to implicate him in the scandalous transaction.

In a motion for reconsideration filed yesterday, Solicitor General Rodolfo "Rudy" Landa and Attorney General Rep. Eric Lito Linares urged the Ombudsman to reconsider its resolution absolving Arroyo of any liability in the NBN-ZTE deal, saying there was sufficient evidence to implicate him in the scandalous transaction.

Arroyo and her husband of allegations they were involved in buying the National Broadband Network (NBN) deal with China's ZTE Corp.

Charge

However, it recommended the filing of charges against him. Commission on Elections (COMELEC) chair Benjamin Abalos and Social Security System president Romulo Neri. Both Landa and Linares appended the findings.

A motion filed in the Office of the Ombudsman on Wednesday by the Government Officers Movement (GOM) led by former vice president Sotelo Santiago, also said Arroyo and her husband should not have been spared.

Landa had earlier filed a motion with the Ombudsman earlier cleared the Pres-

ARROYO

He added that the President's husband was joined him and witness Jerry De Torres II as a witness to the deal.

"In the very least, enough, if indirectly, implies that respondent Arroyo, in the absence of respondent Abalos, intervened in the process of awarding the NBN contract," Santiago said.

Lawyer Ernesto Francisco Jr., another complainant, said that based on the evidence presented by the others, Mike Arroyo should have not only paid charges but also the cost of clearing the Code of Conduct in relation to the President.

"The truth of the matter is that contrary to the honorable Officer's finding, mentioning and said evidence which directly or indirectly link respondent Arroyo in the controversial NBN-ZTE Project have been satisfactorily presented," he said.

Francisco also mentioned that the Office of the Ombudsman "deliberately" failed to investigate Mike Arroyo and Mike Arroyo's role in China to meet with COMELEC officials.

The Office of the Ombudsman said earlier that the President was immune from suit, and that there was insufficient evidence against her husband.

But the COMELEC and allegations against Mike Arroyo are considered in court and therefore not covered by presidential immunity. "These actions cannot be considered as official acts of the President because they are illegal," it added.

NEW FIGHT FOR THE CHAMP

Pacquiao to climb political ring anew

BUCKLE UP, FROM SHANNY PAC, quite declared yesterday he was determined to run for Congress next year despite a previous election defeat and a burning love with down-home world champion Shrimp Gumbo.

Despite, popularly known as "Fascism," told organizers he had enough time to trade for his rights against Castro in November and then campaign for a seat in the House of Representatives, with national elections slated for May next year.

"I say abortion campaigns will still push through. Nothing has changed," said Thompson, who has set up his own party, the People's Choice Movement.

Thompson said he had enough time for the Costa fight despite numerous appearances in some markets, advertising, shows and even an upcoming tour.

"I will start my training next week. I count the days. I need at least eight weeks of training before a fight," he said.

"Come cannot be underestimated. He is big, strong and he is a good boxer and he has shown what he can do in the ring. We can't take him lightly," said Thompson, who's regarded as the best pound-for-pound boxer in the world.

"I feel inspired and I am thankful for my presentation because now I can help more people," said Perceptis, closed an online business.

"It depends on whether he is available. Even if he is elected, he can still be a reserve," the general said.

Nationwide Medical, Dental, Feeding and Information-Based Mission

100% in one day

The Nationwide Charity Sweepstakes Office is leading the mission.

Two million patients.
100,000 volunteers.
2,000 medical mission sites.

On September 6, 2009, a Sunday, more than 100,000 doctors, dentists, nurses, pharmacists, health workers, medical professionals and concerned Filipino citizens from the government and private sector leave the comforts of their homes to perform the biggest act of charity in the country so far.

These Good Samaritans, in a massive display of collective volunteerism, offer their services for free as partners of the Philippine Charity Sweepstakes Office (PCSO) in providing medical and dental services to more than two million Filipinos—all in a single day.

Dubbed as the "100 Percent in One Day" project, the PCSO's nationwide medical, dental and information-based mission aims to cover all of the country's 41,995 barangays.

"This is a first-of-its-kind project in the Philippines that provides fast access to medical and charity care from PCSO and its partners to poor Filipinos all over the country in one day," explains PCSO General Manager and Vice Chair Ricardo Uriarte.

The project is envisioned to be both a celebration of the 75th Anniversary of PCSO, and a window for marginalized Filipinos from all over the country to access medical care and organized charity assistance.

For the medical and dental missions, the PCSO expects to cover 25,190 barangays in Luzon, Visayas and Mindanao, representing 60 percent of the total number of barangays in the country.

There are more than 2,000 medical mission sites to be set up all over the country on September 6, each site capable of providing service to 1,000 to 1,500 patients.

A medical mission site is manned by four doctors, two dentists, four nurses and two pharmacists. These health professionals are assisted by 30 to 40 volunteers who are in-charge of physical set-up and crowd control.

Apart from general checkups and minor surgeries, eye examinations, bone scan and ear check monitor will be available in selected medical mission sites located in government hospitals and rural clinics.

Medicines to be distributed free to patients at the sites include amoxicillin drops, capsules and suspensions; methoprolol tablets; interferon; acid, paracetamol drops and tablets; and ascorbic drops, tablets and syrups.

"PCSO has been diligently providing medical and dental missions for several years now," says Uriarte. "But this is the first time we'll hold it in large scale in one day, targeting more than two million patients."

In Metro Manila alone, more than 150,000 beneficiaries are expected to avail of free medical and dental services offered to some 100 mission sites spread throughout the National Capital Region.

The medical sites in Metro Manila are manned by volunteers from the seven Catholic dioceses affiliated with Caritas, which mobilized lay leaders and church workers to assist the health professionals in the medical mission sites.

The information-based mission, on the other hand, is expected to cover 100 percent of the 41,995 barangays.

Under this component, barangay health workers and residents are encouraged to send to the PCSO through Short Messaging System (SMS) or text message the name and profile of a patient in their community who intends to seek financial assistance from the charity agency.

This would allow the PCSO to maintain a database of prospective beneficiaries whose cases would have to be evaluated to determine who may qualify for the medical assistance.

The feeding missions would be conducted in selected barangays, mostly in depressed areas, in coordination with church-based groups and civic organizations.

The "One Hundred Percent in One Day" project, according to Uriarte, is envisioned to be an annual activity that will serve as a vehicle for spreading the "charity virus" and make organized and systematic sharing coupled with volunteerism as a way of life for Filipinos.

Indigent patients in need of medical assistance from PCSO may send their messages to 392-7676 (for Smart users) and 0939-4095001 (for non-Smart users) during the info-based mission on September 6, 2009. Messages are accepted from 12:01 a.m. to 11:59 p.m. only. Just type NAME (space) ADDRESS (space) ILLNESS (space) CONTACT NUMBER OF PATIENT. All messages will be relayed to the PCSO for documentation and evaluation. Priority will be given to patients in dire need of medical assistance.

Ruby Rose father-in-law turns self in 5 other suspects in slay case ordered arrested by Malabon court

By Of Top and Beverly T. Meléndez

THE FATHER-IN-LAW OF RUBY ROSE BARRERA-JIMENEZ turned himself in to the Angono police Friday after an arrest warrant was issued against him and five others on charges they murdered Barrera-Jimenez, whose body was found in a steel drum at the bottom of Marula Bay in June.

Luzene Masad Jimenez, 31, voluntarily surrendered to the Marikina City Police, chief of the Angono police station, yesterday afternoon. Since the charge was murder, no bail was recommended for his conditional release.

Chief Insp. Perito Palad, director of the Calabarzon Police, Laguna, Batangas, Rizal and Quezon police, said Jimenez was taken to see the judge tonight at for a judicial recommendation before he was to be released to Marikina City.

against him, and turned himself in to the police.

Aside from Jimenez, 34, the Malabon-Manila Regional Trial Court has also issued a warrant of arrest against his brother (late), Leonido Barabas (late Appleby), Rufino Jimenez (late, chief), late Marimela, and Marimela Jimenez.

Being murder charges, no bail was recommended for their temporary release.

Of the six, Marimela is already under the custody of the Philippine National Police-National Capital Region Police Office (PNP-NCRPO).

It will be recalled that he had turned himself in to authorities and his admission of the crime has led to the unraveling of the steel drum containing the victim's body.

The court's order, in effect, denied a motion filed by the Angono Southern last week asking the court to "hold in abeyance the issuance of a warrant of arrest pending a judicial declaration of probable cause" on the case.

Probable cause

Any Jose Jimenez, clerk of court of Branch 178, in-plaint in an interview that the court had 19 days first probable cause in the criminal information submitted by the DDO.

The court's resolution directed that they found probable cause to proceed with the criminal case and docket case with the records of the accused.

The Department of Justice had filed the murder charges against the six accused last Aug. 29 in the Malabon Southern RTC.

DOJ Senior State Prosecutor Rosalinda M. Villamor, as well as State Prosecutors Benito Oliva A. Silva III and Gelfin Delfino, have signed Jimenez's A-and Luzene Jimenez, owner of the Barco Interia, Angono Trading Co., as "perpetrators by investigation and accomplices" while the rest acted as principals by directly participating in the killing of Barrera-Jimenez.

Barrera-Jimenez, owner of former beauty parlor Rochelle Barrera-Jimenez, disappeared on March 14, 2007, after a bitter custody dispute with her estranged husband, Masad Jimenez 38, for their two children.

Her body was found in water off Marula Bay in June, more than two years after the crime was committed.

N. Korea close to uranium enrichment

SEOUL—NORTH KOREA SAID ON FRIDAY THAT it is in the final stages of enriching uranium, a process that could give the nation a second way to make nuclear bombs in addition to its known plutonium-based program.

North Korea informed the UN Security Council it is forging ahead with its nuclear program in spite of international calls to abandon its atomic ambitions, the official Korean Central News Agency said in a report early Friday.

"The deposits said plutonium is being reprocessed," and that have yielded enough reprocessed plutonium for at least half a dozen atomic bombs.

South Korea also said that the North already covers uranium enrichment programs, which would give the regime a second source of nuclear material. South Korea has denied the claim but in response to UN sanctions announced in June that it would begin atomic sanctions.

It's easier to build nuclear bombs using enriched uranium than reprocessing plutonium, and uranium can be enriched in relatively inexpensive facilities but is better able to evade export controls, according to experts in the US and at South Korea's Institute of Nuclear Nonproliferation and Control.

Uranium-based bombs may at work without requiring an explosion, like the two carried out by North Korea in May and in 2006. The plutonium-based weapons.

However, plutonium bombs have been promised to be easier to fit on top of a missile, one expert, Kim Chul-gil of the Federation of American Scientists, Jan said.

North Korea is not believed to have mastered making a nuclear bomb small enough to mount in a long-range missile. An April rocket launch widely condemned by international partners and the UN Security Council was seen by many as a test of its long-range missile technology.

Friday's statement comes amid a series of military moves in the months of preparation, from the April rocket launch and May nuclear test to the test firing of a series of missiles.

North Korea called its actions a response to the UN Security Council's decision to tighten sanctions against the regime in punishment for its May nuclear test, a missile test KCTV called a "watershed" event.

The UN, China, Japan, Russia and South Korea have been trying for years to persuade North Korea to dismantle its nuclear program in exchange for much-needed aid and other economic benefits. Pyongyang, which said more than 6,000 died in the year 2009, AP

Indonesia quake death toll now 63

CEKILAN, INDONESIA—RESCUERS IN INDONESIA continued digging on Friday to reach dozens buried by a major earthquake that killed at least 63 people as anger roared at the slow response from authorities.

Police and troops cleared buildings and searched for survivors in the village of Cileglang, south of the capital Jakarta, in a frantic bid to reach those trapped following Wednesday's 7.0-magnitude quake, officials said.

"We have 63 people have been killed throughout Java," 30 others still trapped in Cileglang," disaster management agency spokesman Priyatno Kuntoro said. The quake, which struck off the south coast of Java, triggered landslides in the village 150 km south of Jakarta that triggered collapses here and buried some families.

"We're being using heavy machinery for the rescue effort," Kuntoro said, after earlier attempts were hampered by poor weather, forcing rescuers to push through the rubble with hand tools, he said. "We're being using heavy machinery for the rescue effort," Kuntoro said, after earlier attempts were hampered by poor weather, forcing rescuers to push through the rubble with hand tools, he said.

"They're buried under buildings in the houses of the trapped people surviving in a way," he said.

Landslide from the quake, which caused a powerful shock from nearby buildings in Jakarta, was spread throughout Indonesia's main island of Java, in near 30,000 homes had been damaged and 3,000 people displaced, officials said.

In the village of Cipatan in West Java province, 120 km from the capital, hundreds of residents whose homes were damaged set up a makeshift camp in an open field.

Overall, a 70-year-old village and lands had received little help from the government or aid organizations.

The only residents to have arrived since Friday were the quake, he said.

"The help should have come on the day of the disaster. Although we have received aid, we will need more medical supplies," he said.

"I have lost my house. That's the only thing that I have lost," he said. In Cileglang village in the nearby district of Tegalalang, 200 km from the capital, village chief Sholeh Tegalalang said he had been having trouble finding shelter as they waited for outside assistance.

"The mosque, which could have been our shelter during the night, has been destroyed. And there is only a small tent for all 20 families in the village," Tegalalang said.

SWINE FLU VIRUS KILLS 2,837

GENEVA—HEALTH OFFICIALS BELIEVE AT least 2,837 people but to now causing more deaths than previously and the virus has not mutated, the World Health Organization (WHO) said on Friday.

The WHO is carefully monitoring the virus to detect any mutation which might signal that it has become more deadly.

"There is no sense that the virus has mutated or changed in any way," WHO spokeswoman Gregory Hart said in a news briefing.

"We are continuing to see increased number of deaths because we are seeing many, many cases."

More than a quarter of a million cases have been laboratory-confirmed worldwide, but this is far lower than the true number according to the United Nations agency which has stopped reporting countries to report individual cases.

A WHO study statement on the latest data, commonly known as the H1N1, reported last on Friday. The agency's previous update of Aug. 20 showed at least 2,200 deaths.

How I studied fashion in Japan – and bagged a prize for my 'terno'

My schoolmates and teachers were so amazed with the butterfly sleeves!

By Genine Aspinos

RIGHT BEFORE GRADUATION, I was looking for a scholarship to study fashion abroad.

I was in luck. In our Christmas 2005, and I was granted a three-year scholarship by the Japanese government.

At that time, I thought I had everything I needed to survive. Looking back, I realize I forgot to prepare for one thing: language. To say then I was "lost in translation" is an understatement.

But I was given the chance to study in the best fashion school in Asia, Bunka Fashion College or Bunka Fashion College in Shinjuku, Tokyo. How could I quit?

Serious curriculum

My school specializes in Indian design and related disciplines. It is known for its strict curriculum and heavy workload. In our first 70 classes, all over Japan and for exchange programs with Grand Saint Martin in London and Seneca in New York. Its in-class projects include fabric T-shirts, jeans, blouses and baby dresses.
